

UT -SDGs Workshop SDGs Strategy and International cooperation

Diving deeper into the topic of Sustainable Development Goals of United Nations, the Office of International Affairs hosted two SDG-related workshops. The aim is to provide staff and faculty a vivid picture of how SDGs work.

First, the SDGs Micro-Workshop was held on December 25, 2020. It was our honor to invite Prof. Ching-Ping Tung, Director of the Office of Institutional Research and Social Responsibility at National Taiwan University (NTU), and Dr. Chuan-Huang Chung, the Executive Officer of the Office of Research and Development at National Changhua University of Education (NCUE). We have learned a lot from the valuable experiences they shared with us in this workshop.

Second, on January 20 2021, the UT hosted Dual Degree Program Workshop for SDGs-17 Partnership. We were thrilled to have Associate Prof. Mong-Hwa Chin, Associate Vice President of the OIA at National Yang Ming Chiao Tung University (NYCU), Ms. Katie Lai, the Project Manager of the OIA at NYCU, and Mr. Andrew Tsung, the Director of OIA at NTU as the speakers. All the participants have gained an in-depth understanding of dual degree programs.
